

Talking With Your Patients About PAD

Educating your patients about PAD and its treatments should begin with explaining the disease and its risks. Patient-centered communication in which the clinician monitors and controlling hypertension with medications and heart-healthy lifestyle

- High blood cholesterol—